Wells Fargo gives a leg up to Saddle Up!

FRANKLIN, Tenn. (January 14, 2009) – Saddle Up! got a leg up for its annual fund campaign when Wells Fargo Bank in Nashville donated $2,500 this month.

Saddle Up! is middle Tennessee's oldest and largest recreational therapeutic horseback riding program. The nonprofit agency has provided more than 4,800 lessons this year to children and youth with disabilities.

“As a nonprofit that depends on the generosity of businesses, individuals, foundations and other community groups, Saddle Up! greatly appreciates this donation from Wells Fargo to support everything that makes our program possible,” said Saddle Up! Executive Director Cheryl Scutt. “Our annual fund campaign is one of our biggest fundraisers and with today's economic challenges, this gift helps as we try to reach our $95,000 goal.”

Scutt also noted that Wells Fargo is a participating sponsor in another Saddle Up! fundraiser, the Music Country Grand Prix, and thanked Wells Fargo Regional Vice President Sam Belk for his leadership in support of the agency.

“We are proud to be able to support the fantastic work of Saddle Up!. We look forward to assisting them with future events and activities. Saddle Up! provides a much needed support for our children and youth.”
